Review

What Col and Tony have described here is exactly what I have been trying to do in my own life and in our congregation for years. According to this book, Christians are to be disciple-making disciples and pastors are to be trainers. Superb! This is the best book I've read on the nature of church ministry. --Mark Dever-Senior Pastor Capitol Hill Baptist Church, Washington D.C.

The Trellis and the Vine comes from a ministry so deeply committed to the recovery of biblical truth and the cause of the gospel. Its wisdom is invaluable. My advice: Keep a good stack on hand at all times, and put this book to good use. --R.Albert Mohler-President, The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky

THE TRELLIS AND THE VINE: THE MINISTRY MIND-SHIFT THAT CHANGES EVERYTHING BY COLIN MARSHALL, TONY PAYNE PDF

All Christian ministry is a mixture of trellis and vine. There is vine work: the prayerful preaching and teaching of the word of God to see people converted and grow to maturity as disciples of Christ. Vine work is the Great Commission. And there is trellis work: creating and maintaining the physical and organizational structures and programs that support vine work and its growth. What is the state of the trellis and the vine in your part of the world? Has trellis work taken over, as it has a habit of doing? Is the vine work being done by very few (perhaps only the pastor and only on Sundays)? And is the vine starting to wilt as a result? The image of the trellis and the vine raises all the fundamental questions of Christian ministry: * What is the vine for? * How does the vine grow? * How does the vine relate to my church? * What is vine work and what is trellis work, and how can we tell the difference? * What part do different people play in growing the vine? * How can we get more people involved in vine work? In The Trellis and the Vine, Colin Marshall and Tony Payne answer these urgent questions afresh. They dig back into the Bible's view of Christian ministry, and argue that a major mind-shift is required if we are to fulfill the Great Commission of Christ, and see the vine flourish again.

Paradigm-shifting

By J. Donaldson

God works in wondrous ways. For the first time in my life, I realized that a Christian is nothing more than a person who follows Jesus, a disciple. This may seem to be common sense, but I just never believed it deep down, confining a Christian rather to a list of doctrinal beliefs. That all changed. Then God brings this book to my life. You of course see how the dots connect. First, I see Christians are disciples and then God brings a book in my life to show that ministry is simply disciple-making. Truly a paradigm shift. As a small group leader and interested church planter, I am gripped by this vision. I am praying the Lord brings disciples in my life to train.

Revolutionary Ancient History!

By Ed Ford

Our pastors recommended this book to me! They are contemplating making major changes in our church so that many more of us can become "disciple-making disciples." The title put me off at first--the word "trellis" doesn't seem very masculine to me. But the analogy is right on! If you're like me, you know that something is significantly wrong with most of our churches. AND you know that the never-ending stream of faddish books and suggested changes have all fallen far short of expectations! This book takes a hard look at the discipleship Jesus modelled and taught, as well as our major distortions. Informative and transformational--highest recommendations!

balanced look at growing the church

By C. R. Hoyle

It's easy for churches to end up on one of two ministry philosophy poles. One end is the idea that the pastor and elders are responsible for ministry inside and outside the church. The other end says we just need small groups to grow and loving on people will win and build Christians.

This book does a fantastic job of balancing the importance of pastoral gifts and ministry with the flocks' responsibility to be at work making disciples as well. It's a very practical book that was helpful for a PCA ruling elder whose church needs to remember that all of us should be at work tending the vine.
